

Developing e-government solutions for enterprises: A workshop for introducing the results of the project EGOPRISE

Invitation to those who are interested in developing public e-services!

During the last years The Centre for Business Research and Development of Tallinn University of Technology, Institute of Baltic Studies and Narva BAS Foundation have studied the e-government services for enterprises, expectations and opinions of the enterprises and possibilities for the improvements in the future. Now we would like to share the results with the wider public incl. state and local institutions that are responsible for the development of e-services. We have also invited guests from Denmark and Finland to share the experiences.
